

Nightman Strikes Again

By: Bob Joe

SACO- The serial killer known as “Nightman” has struck again Tuesday night. Police reports said they found a dead body floating down the Saco River this morning when a resident called in. The body was found with his trademark “N” cut into the victims heart. Reasons for the attack are still unknown as the police can’t find any ties to his previous 50 victims. The police are still working on the leads on Nightman that they already have.

This was Nightman’s second attack in as many weeks. Witnesses found the first body dead on Main Street early in the morning. Witnesses found the second body dead in the river early in the morning. Witnesses in both cases say both had an ‘N’ engraved in their heart.
